CCSD Superintendent Pat Skorkowsky receives National Superintendent of the Year Award

National recognition presented by Jobs for America's Graduates

LAS VEGAS – The national board of directors of Jobs for America's Graduates (JAG) recently recognized Clark County School District's (CCSD) Superintendent Pat Skorkowsky as the National Superintendent of the Year, during the 2015 National Leadership Awards.

The National Leadership Awards recognize local and state leaders who have demonstrated a high level of commitment and involvement in the support of JAG and the student leaders the organization serves. JAG is a national nonprofit organization that helps at-risk students graduate from high school and make successful transitions to postsecondary education or careers. In Nevada, 37 schools currently follow the JAG national model, with 19 of them being CCSD schools, representing 689 students.

"It is our great honor to recognize Superintendent Skorkowsky for his commitment to education in Nevada and the execution of the JAG program in numerous Clark County schools," said Jobs for Nevada's Graduates Board Chairman, Frank R. Woodbeck. "Superintendent Skorkowsky committed to the JAG program after seeing a successful pilot with seven schools. He is among our most active and engaged members, supporting young people across the state."
