Magnet students "give back" to educators as Teacher Appreciation Week continues

LAS VEGAS - May 5 was a special day for Southeast Career & Technical Academy (SECTA) teachers as they received the royal treatment from students who showcased their culinary and cosmetology talents. The event aimed to show teachers how special they are and the important role they play in developing young minds. Among those in attendance were Trustees Deanna L. Wright, Erin E. Cranor and Kevin L. Child, along with Superintendent Pat Skorkowsky.

Join CCSD in celebrating #TeacherAppreciationWeek by using the hashtag #CCSDTeachers via social media.

Superintendent Pat Skorkowsky helps give SECTA teacher Pam Hall a manicure.

Trustee Deanna L. Wright washes a SECTA teacher's hair.

Trustee Kevin L. Child consults with a SECTA cosmetology student about the latest hair styles.

Trustee Erin E. Cranor helps SECTA culinary students prepare a delicious lunch.

SECTA culinary students go over the menu and prepare to serve lunch to teachers.
