RICHARD HARRIS LAW FIRM AWARDS SCHOLARSHIPS TO FOUR STUDENT PSA CONTEST WINNERS

LAS VEGAS — The Richard Harris Law Firm is proud to announce the winners of the 2015 Students with a Cause PSA Contest: 1st Place – Johnny Morales and Jordan Libby of Palo Verde High School, and 2nd Place – Andi Nguyen and Alec Espinoza from Advanced Technologies Academy. Morales and Libby earned a total of $1,500 in scholarship funds, and a $500 donation to their school, for their winning video titled “What if We All Believed in Ourselves.” Nguyen and Espinoza collectively earned $1,000 in scholarship funds for their video titled “What If People Didn’t Litter.”

The Students with a Cause PSA contest, now in its sixth year, is intended to encourage students to creatively express their vision and experiences through a video that will engage, motivate and make a difference in their lives and the community. The theme of this year’s contest, “What If...” challenged students to answer the hypothetical question as it relates to improving their lives, that of their family or community, or making for a better society.

“We received a number of outstanding video submissions this year,” said Richard Harris, Founder of Richard Harris Law Firm. “The creative expression and raw talent showcased by these high school students in these videos was quite impressive.”

The four PSA contest winners were honored in a ceremony held at the Richard Harris Law Firm, where they were awarded their prizes. The winning videos have been highlighted on the firm’s social media, and are also scheduled to receive further recognition given airtime on local TV this Summer.

The 2015 winning PSA videos, and the rest of the video submissions can be viewed here:
